OTTAWA (CP)—The External Affairs Department today said "no immediate hope can be held out for the early return to our own forces" of Canadian prisoners of war formerly held by Italy. These Canadians, chiefly R.C.A.F. personnel, numbered fewer than 100 before the invasion of Sicily.

"While the release of Allied prisoners of war was a prime condition of the military armistice with Italy, it must be emphasized that many of these prisoners fell at once into German power," said the department.

Patriots Attack

LONDON (AP)—Croat and Slovene guerrilla units are attacking German reinforcements moving from Italy toward the Yugoslav coast, especially along the Pol-Trieste road, a liberation army radio communique announced today.

Patriot forces are still holding out against Nazi attacks inside the Adriatic port of Susak and are fighting the Germans behind the port of Split, it said.

Hess' Cousin Held

NEW YORK (AP)—A middle-aged woman, described by the F.B.I. as a second cousin of Rudolf Hess, former Hitler aide, now a prisoner of war in Britain, has been arrested with 41 other German aliens, E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the F.B.I. office, announced today.

Delay Baseball Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. war department announced today it has been forced to delay "for a considerable period" the departure of a group of major league baseball players for an exhibition tour in the Pacific area. Increased activities in the Pacific, it said, have complicated the transportation problem.

Spy Admits Guilt

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Theresa Behrens, one of a group of eight persons accused of conspiring to supply war information to Nazi Germany, pleaded guilty in federal court here today.

Jeep Overturns

An army sergeant-major was removed to military hospital at 11:25 today after the jeep in which he was riding with Pte. Norman C. Blackmore, R.C.O.C., overturned three times on Gorge Road near the Victoria Air Court. The sergeant-major suffered shock and a cut on the forehead. Blackmore was uninjured. Saanich police said the jeep was in collision with a car driven by James Atkinson, 3081 Albany, who was traveling in the same direction as the jeep.

Softening Up Burma Japs

U.S. AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, INDIA (AP)—United States air forces, by pounding Burma at an increasing pace, have made a "successful defence" by the Japanese nearly impossible, Brig-Gen. Howard C. Davidson said at a press conference today.

Brief Mention

MOSCOW (AP)—The Allied occupation of Naples was announced to the Russian people in a four-line dispatch on the back pages of Moscow newspapers today.

British at Boulogne?

LONDON (AP)—D.N.B., German news agency, claimed in a broadcast today that a British landing craft had been sunk by coastal guns in Boulogne harbor. It said the 200-ton vessel was first set on fire. There was no comment from official quarters in London.

Axis Rumors

BERNE (AP)—A Budapest dispatch to La Suisse today brought into the open reports of Axis origin that Germany had offered Russia an armistice in June, 1942, and that Russia now is expected to take "surprising new political measures" in relation to Germany comparable with those of 1939.

In 1939 Russia and Germany signed a nonaggression pact, a move which proved a prelude to Germany's opening hostilities against Poland.

Russia Keeps Word

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Continued co-operation by Russia with her Allies was predicted today by Joseph E. Davies, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, who is here for what he says will be a 10-day vacation. "The word of the Soviet government is as good as that of any other of the nations fighting Germany," he said.

Reach Benevento; Rome Road Open As Nazis Retreat

By NOLAND NORGAARD
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—British and U.S. troops, feverishly welcomed by the surviving population of Naples, forged on past that devastated city today and fought steadily northward toward Rome and the next defence line of the Germans.

(A Reuters dispatch from Allied headquarters quoted a military spokesman as saying "the road to Rome is now open. The town of Benevento is directly threatened.")

(He added that the Anglo-American 5th Army is "already well north of Naples." Benevento is 32 miles northeast of Naples.)

Meeting sharp opposition by German tanks, mortars and machine guns, the forces of Lt. Gen. Mark Clark were said in a communique to be making good progress, both to the north of the captured port city and to the east.

The British 8th Army, of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, which includes the Canadian 1st Division, speedily spread over all the Foglia plain, capturing San Severo, 18 miles north of Foglia, and Lucera, 12 miles northwest of that air base centre, Allied headquarters announced.

Montgomery's Men Advance 30 Miles

All the Monte Gargano Peninsula—the spur of the Italian boot—also has been occupied in a 30-mile advance by Montgomery's troops, a spokesman said.

Allied troops entering the city of Naples, once famed for its beauty, found the waterfront a solid area of ruin, reports from the battlefield said, but the rest of the city was orderly.

Gen. Clark himself entered the city Friday afternoon, and the first advance patrols which took over the occupation were followed by a steady stream of troops, tanks and vehicles.

All of the city's 1,000,000 people who had remained in Naples through the bombings and then survived the German reign of terror joined in a happy welcome to the Allied warriors who drove on through the city in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

Before retreating the Germans heavily mined the city's streets, but as fast as they finished the job, the Neapolitans dug out the explosives and, according to reports given the Allied vanguard, buried them on the road north of the city over which the Germans were about to retreat.

Troops of the 5th Army found few buildings near the Naples waterfront habitable as a result of heavy bombings and systematic German demolitions.

(Today's German communique gave the German people the first official announcement on the Allied capture of Naples. It said the city was evacuated after military installations had been destroyed.)

Emden Port Blasted By Day Following Ruhr Night Raid

LONDON (AP)—United States heavy bombers, escorted by fighters, attacked the German port of Emden this afternoon, following an R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. night assault on the Ruhr industrial city of Hagen.

It was the second attack this week on Emden, Germany's prime North Sea shipbuilding centre, U-boat base and shipping port since the virtual destruction of Hamburg.

The raid marked the third major blow in two days in the Allies' two-way aerial offensive against Germany from both British and North African bases.

Emden was bombed twice last Monday at night by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F., in daylight by U.S. planes.

Planes from the R.C.A.F. bomber group participated in the attack on Hagen and all returned safely, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced.

Hagen, which has a population of 150,000, is 10 miles south of Dortmund, often the target for the big R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night bombers. It is in the centre of the Ruhr region with important iron and steel foundries, engineering and armament works and has a big railway centre.

One of the principal industries is the Accumulatoren Fabrika A.G., which makes batteries, motors and other electrical equipment for submarines.

DEFENCE WEAKENED

An announcement that two bombers were lost underscored evidence that Allied planes have made inroads on the strength of the German air force in recent months.

The target—the eleventh Nazi city bombed by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. in the last 10 nights—represented a blow at both industry and communications.

The raid also marked another step in bomber command's expansion of its campaign against enemy facilities which in the last week has seen a number of seldom-touched targets blasted, like Aachen, Darmstadt and Brunswick. Hagen has been bombed only twice before.

The Berlin radio said the bombers were over the Rhineland and Westphalia—which includes the Ruhr industrial area.

It was pointed out that fliers of the United States army air

3 R.C.A.F. Fliers Killed In Alaska

Western Air Command today listed three R.C.A.F. men killed, two severely injured and seven slightly hurt, and one U.S. civilian as missing following the crash of an R.C.A.F. plane in Alaska Sept. 25.

Killed in the crash were PO. John McRae, 30, Agassiz, B.C.; LAC. Robert Haslett, 33, and LAC. Harry Harvey, 22, both of Vancouver. Severely injured were Flt. Lt. E. T. Waters and PO. Ronald Johnston, 23, of Vancouver.

Brazil Ship Sunk In South Atlantic

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—German U-boats, inactive for weeks in south Atlantic waters, returned Sept. 26 and sank the 4,998-ton Brazilian motorship Itapage, it was announced Friday night.

Today Brazilian newspapers published new demands that Brazil avenge its losses to its merchant fleet. The Itapage was the 23rd Brazilian ship lost in 19 months.

Late dispatches from Macelo, where survivors were landed, indicate six passengers and 19 members of the crew still are missing from the sailing list of 35 passengers and 72 crewmen. Approximately 80 survivors were reported suffering from wounds received when the U-boat crew machine-gunned the ship's lifeboats, and from the effect of an explosion on board which followed the torpedoing.

Earlier in the evening residents along the southeast coast said that planes passed overhead bound for what apparently was an attack on French coastal areas.

A Berlin broadcast Friday night said that Allied planes were over Rumanian territory dropping leaflets. Two parachutists, "an air lieutenant and captain," were said to have been captured carrying large sums of Rumanian money, drugs and food.

There was no confirmation of the report from London or other Allied sources.

Russian Planes Lay Big Barrage For New Advances

LONDON (CP)—With the Russian and German Ukrainian armies locked in a terrific struggle for Kiev and the lower Dnieper River Valley, Red Army air force bombers have unleashed a bombardment against three White Russian rail centres barring the way to invasion of German-held Poland and the Baltic States.

The Moscow radio said today that Mogilev, Orsha and Vitebsk, strongly-fortified German bases in White Russia, were pounded for the second straight night by large formations of Russian bombers.

This operation evidently was intended to soften up Nazi defence lines and pave the way for advancing Russian forces which Friday surged forward over rain-soaked terrain to reach the Prynya River, 29 miles east of Mogilev, and 17 miles west of Cherkov, capture of which had been announced earlier in the day.

5,500 NAZIS KILLED

The Soviet columns rolled westward through 460 towns and villages, killing more than 5,500 Germans, and collecting huge stocks of abandoned war material the Germans had failed to destroy, a communique said.

The war bulletin, detailing land advances in the White Russia sector, said other drives were aimed at Gomel and Vitebsk. The Germans brought up artillery to meet the advance on Vitebsk and counterattacked several times, it said, but Red Army shock troops battled their way to a stubbornly-defended height.

The Germans also were fighting desperately to hold Gomel, farther to the south.

AT BEND OF DNEPER

The Moscow bulletin, for the second straight day, omitted mention of the Ukrainian fighting, but Nazi broadcasts claimed a "major defensive success" near Zaporozhe on the great bend of the Dnieper.

There, the German high command communique said, the Russians lost 140 out of 250 tanks in a mass attack on German forces defending that river and rail centre.

Mussolini Lists Ciano, Etc., For Trial

BERNE (AP)—The new Mussolini-headed puppet Fascist government for German-occupied Italy decreed today the establishment of special tribunals to try for high treason party members whom Mussolini has charged with "passing to the enemy at the moment of trial." These include Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law and all members of the Fascist Grand Council who voted against Mussolini July 25, when the Duce was forced from power.

All are in prison in northern Italy except Ciano and Count Dino Grandi, reported to have escaped.

GERMAN SUB SKIPPER CAPTURED—Stripped to the waist, with eyes staring from his haggard face, the commander of a German submarine is interrogated by a navy officer aboard the escort carrier to which he and 30 of his crew were transferred after being fished out of the sea following the sinking of the U-boat by Lieut. Robt. P. Williams, U.S.N.R.

Stockholm Reports Say Nazis Prepare To Evacuate Norway

By FOSTER BARCLAY
LONDON (CP)—Dispatches to London papers today from Stockholm reported belief is current that the German high command has taken initial steps toward evacuation of Norway. The reports coincided with rumors heard in Stockholm that some Nazi officers are advocating a showdown with the British navy this winter.

"Some 20,000 troops—mostly belonging to armored units—have been withdrawn from northern Norway in the last six weeks," said Ralph Hewins, London Daily Mail special correspondent in Stockholm. "A few replacements have been made. Evacuation now is speeded up owing to the rapid Russian advance and particularly because of increasing probability the Red Army will reach the Gulf of Riga before winter."

If the Russians should reach the gulf they would completely relieve Leningrad and the naval base of Kronstadt, and the Russian fleet would have anchorages 300 miles farther westward. Germany would then be forced to strengthen her Baltic fleet, a step

Hitler Demands Nazi 'Blood Wall'

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Hitler has ordered Marshals Erwin Rommel and Albert Kesselring, his commanders in northern and central Italy, to hold a "blood wall" in northern Italy in an effort to keep Allied armies from the borders of Germany, Berlin dispatches to the Swedish press said today.

The German commanders were instructed to "defend the Fortress of Europe to the last drop of blood," the Stockholm-Tidningen correspondent said.

Whether that line will be along the Po River or somewhere else in northern Italy, was not disclosed by the Germans, who have conscripted thousands of Italian men for work with the Nazis' Todt organization in building fortifications.

A German commentator told the correspondent the "blood wall" was a "guarantee that the Nazi armies in the Fortress of Europe will be able to hold their positions many years if necessary until the Allies are convinced the war is futile."

which Stockholm said Hitler has already taken by dispatching the battleship Luetzow into the Baltic.

Nazis Would Delay Allied Tank Units

The Germans obviously were determined to hold back, if possible, the hard-hitting high-speed Allied armored columns until new defence lines could be prepared somewhere to the north. The enemy's armor was reported fighting a vigorous rearguard action north of Naples and giving ground only foot by foot.

The same type of action was encountered by troops advancing through the mountains north and northeast of Avellino, to the east of Naples. They were running into mortar and machine gun positions, which had to be rooted out one by one.

On the Adriatic coast, Gen. Montgomery still was meeting fiercest opposition. His capture of Lucera tightened the Allied hold on all the 13 airfields in the Foglia area.

The number of Neapolitans who met death during the German reign over the city will never be known, Italian officers reported to Allied commanders. They said casualty figures had been destroyed when the enemy blew up the police headquarters.

Striking furiously to block the Nazi retreat from the Naples area, Allied night bombers attacked pontoon bridges at Grazzanise, 20 miles north of Naples.

WAR RETURNS TO THE DNEPER

After two years of bloody fighting, the Red Army has battled its way back to the Dnieper River and is beginning to bridge it. Smolensk, near the Dnieper's headwaters, is once more in Soviet hands and Stalin's armies are battling the Nazis at the river's great bend. Kiev, Dnepropetrovsk, Zaporozhe and Melitopol are all on the verge of recapture and their fall may presage a German withdrawal west to the old Russia-Poland border.

Pressure On Japs Increases Solomons And New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC (AP)—Relentless air and ground pressure appeared today to be driving the Japanese out of the central into the northern Solomons and to pose new perils for them on New Guinea.

In the Solomons, they are about to be pushed off Vella Lavella. They also seem to be pulling out their 10,000-man garrison piecemeal from Kolombangara.

On New Guinea, where slowly advancing Australians have ringed in Finschhafen, an Allied menace to Madang up the coast took form in the Ramu River valley.

Today's communique from Allied headquarters supplied more pieces to a growing picture of Japanese disaster in the Solomons. The day before, south Pacific headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey said the Japanese appeared to be sending supplies down to their isolated garrison at Vila, Kolombangara, for a holding force and then bringing out men on the return trip. Vila is squeezed between Allied forces which captured New Georgia and others which hold most of Vella Lavella.

JAP SHIPS SUNK

Today's communique said an 11-ship convoy, heading toward Vila, was caught by four-engined bombers in Bougainville Strait Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Two cargo ships and a destroyer were sunk, a third was damaged and other ships were dispersed.

On Vella Lavella, U.S. soldiers were closing in on remaining enemy groups at the northern end of the island. The enemy's

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The grave famine on the densely populated eastern seaboard of India is reported to have grown worse, with hundreds dying of starvation despite government efforts to expedite importation of foods and grains from foreign countries.

There is deep concern over the situation not only among impartial British and Indian circles, but in important United States quarters. This plague of hunger comes on top of the British-Indian political crisis. There is fear that unscrupulous people may be able for ulterior purposes to merge the discontent growing out of these two situations, thereby creating a nasty combination.

The point of American concern is, of course, the fact that India is the arsenal of the Orient and the principal base for the coming offensive against Japan through Burma, across the bay from Bengal. American interest is multiplied by the fact that the United States has heavy military commitments there and is building up a big base for operations against the Japs.

Important military and political people, while not doing public talking on the situation, are anxious that a fresh effort be made to settle the political imbroglio.

We are fighting Japan to prevent her from making herself mistress of all Asia, and we shall succeed. However, there is another contingency which doesn't seem to be generally recognized, and that is the formation after the war of an Asiatic bloc of nations which feel they have been left outside the Atlantic Charter of the western Allies. That's no bugbear of the imagination but a real thing, as I discovered during my trip through the Orient early this year.

My investigations in India convinced me the Indian leaders now would welcome a reopening of the case and would be prepared to compromise on issues which heretofore have precluded a settlement.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Johan Ludwig Mowinckel, 72, three times Prime Minister of Norway and a former president of the League of Nations Council, is dead. He had been in this country since 1942.

In 1933 he presided over the 14th League Assembly, which saw, for the first time, a delegate enter the building accompanied by a bodyguard. The delegate was Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels of Germany, now Nazi propaganda minister.

Mihailovic's Army Ready For Action When Allies Move

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A dispatch received here from Switzerland today quoted Gen. Draja Mihailovic, Yugoslav patriot chieftain, as declaring his army was "ready and waiting the promised signal from the Allies" to attack Nazi occupation forces. The dispatch quoted him further as saying his troops are not at present participating in the battles being waged against the Axis in northeastern Italy and along the Adriatic coast.

The dispatch was from the Dagens Nyheter's Zurich correspondent, who said Mihailovic had sent him a personal letter by a traveler recently arrived from the Balkans.

"I already have told the British and Americans my army is ready and will begin to fight when the first Allied division lands in Yugoslavia," the letter said, adding:

"What we are going to do then will completely put in the shade the efforts of the partisans (led by Gen. Josip Broz, known as 'Tito') because it will not be an improvised partizan war but a battle by a well organized and equipped regular army to liberate the country."

Africa Bombers Blast Munich; Start New Threat

By WES GALLAGHER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Northwest African four-engined bombers teamed up Friday for their first double blow at Germany from African bases.

In this first demonstration of the offensive wallop that eventually may rock Germany from the south as well as the west, U.S. planes made an 1,800-mile round trip flight, their longest from their African bases, to pound Munich.

Other American planes returning to a target which they hit on a 2,500-mile jaunt from their Middle East bases Aug. 13, attacked an aircraft factory at Wiener Neustadt, 25 miles southeast of Vienna.

The Allied airmen lost 14 planes in these two blows and in raids in Italy in which night bombers attacked lines of the German retreat from Naples. Pontoon bridges at Grazzanise, 20 miles north of Naples, and Formia on the Apennine Way, 44 miles northwest of Naples, were attacked in the night forays.

The American losses were small compared with 59 heavy U.S. bombers which failed to get back in an attack on Schweinfurt and Regensburg, in the same area of Germany, in a raid from Britain Aug. 17.

Crewmen said direct hits were made on buildings in the Munich area, despite heavy clouds. Between 55 and 60 German fighters attacked in the Munich area. The bombers' gunners accounted for eight of them.

Direct hits also were reported on the Henschel aircraft factory at Wiener Neustadt. These attacks were intercepted by about 80 German fighters.

CANADIAN PRODUCT BUILDS COMFORT INTO HOSPITAL TRAINS

Canadian-made Masonite Efficiently Replaces Many Critical Materials

Solid comfort at sixty miles an hour! That's what Britain's soldiers are enjoying now in their compact, three-tiered comfortable hospital trains. These modern clinics on wheels whisk Britain's wounded from hospital ships that dock at the great sea-ports to the many inland hospitals throughout the British Isles. At Canadian ports, too, rapid modern hospital trains are in readiness to move Canadian troops swiftly and comfortably to hospitals throughout the Dominion.

Snug weather-proof hospital trains like this had to be built in a hurry—and in no ordinary quantity! They had to be fitted-out fast to meet the Red Cross ships returning from Mediterranean ports with wounded British heroes. That's where Canadian-made, easy-to-handle Masonite that has such a multiplicity of uses came into its own! Masonite helped make it possible for these new British hospital trains to be panelled, roofed and partitioned with a rugged, durable material that can be kept clean and spotless, smooth and sanitary, with a minimum of effort. Masonite found other uses on hospital trains in making medicine, utility, bathroom, linen, storage and sink cabinets.

Fitting out hospital trains that comfortably convey our heroes in both Britain and Canada has been only one of Masonite's important wartime jobs. One house in every five in bomb-battered Britain has been damaged; hundreds of hospitals, schools and churches have suffered. The job of re-building is an enormous one, and there's a pressing need for the simplest articles of household furniture, things that mean a bare minimum of comfort like tables, chairs and cupboards.

Today Masonite is not available for most civilian uses. But when the war is won, it will again be ready to provide your home with beautiful walls and ceilings, built-in furniture, kitchen cabinets and counter tops, and many other attractive and durable features.

Fearful Of Its Success

ONE OF THE BEST ADVERTISEMENTS of the Fuehrer's forebodings is the elaborate propagandizing to which the Herr Doktor Goebbels is subjecting the forthcoming conferences between the Foreign Office chiefs of Great Britain, the United States, and the Soviet Union. The Nazi lie factory is working without pause to discover new means of sowing discord between the three nations. Nothing is too fantastic, nothing too cunning, to serve the enemy's purpose. Every possible avenue of mischief is being thoroughly explored. And even some people in Allied lands are allowing their suspicions to get the better of their judgment; not a few openly charge Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt with lukewarmness toward full co-operation and collaboration with the Soviet Union. No substance in fact supports this view. But all such vapors are grist for the Nazi propagandist mill.

Hitler is naturally worried over the visible proof that Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union are now engaged in the important preliminaries for the initial pourparlers in which Mr. Eden, Mr. Cordell Hull, and Mr. Molotov will take part—the meeting which, by the same token, will prepare the way for the long-hoped-for and highly desirable conference of the political heads of the three great Allied nations. Certainly the Fuehrer knows that when Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Stalin sit down together in a spirit of mutual trust, the fate of National Socialism and the archpriest of the "new order" will indeed be sealed. Not that there is or ever has been any doubt on that point; but it is the inexorable finality of the projected proceedings that must be striking terror in the black heart of the world's enemy No. 1. Hence his frantic efforts to prevent the meeting.

There will be plain talk between the three national leaders. Nor need this cause any alarm; how can they reach a mutually profitable understanding unless they first of all clear away the last vestige of suspicion and mistrust? If the Russian people are not fully informed of the British and American points of view, either in respect of the military strategy of the moment—why there is not the kind of "second front" Moscow desires—or in regard to specific plans for making the United Nations a working organism after the conflict, the deliberations at the conference table should evolve a medium.

Above all else, however, is the urgent need for complete understanding between London, Washington and Moscow. It would be foolish to dwell unduly at this late stage on the doleful fact that the withdrawal of one of the greatest military and industrial powers into moody and suspicious isolation would have as disastrous an effect on any attempt to build an ordered world as had the withdrawal of the United States after the first Great War. Certainly such an outcome would be tragic not only for the nations outside Russia, but most of all for the Russian people themselves. However, the belief is general that Marshal Stalin is great enough to cut through the tangle of resentment and suspicion. He does not need to be haggard by the kind of fears that made Hitler a maniac of encirclement.

This Is A War Effort

UNLESS DONATIONS MOUNT IN NUMBER and value by the end of business today the first week's collections for the Community Chest and Salvation Army special tasks will have reached less than half of the objective of $85,000. The response is disappointing to the willing workers who have given liberally of their time and talents to this worthy cause—a home front war effort—and it is causing the committee in charge not a little concern. It is unfortunate, of course, that this year's canvass had to begin as the annual "appeal" of the two-week race meet at the Willows ended; this is not to say that those who had their "little bit on" were entirely unmindful of humanity's call. But the fact remains that diligent workers for the Community Chest and Salvation Army succeeded, in five days, in collecting and obtaining promises for only about half the amount wanted "on the spot" in one afternoon.

Nobody contests the right of the private individual to do as he or she likes with his or her own money. In times like these, moreover, the average individual feels the need of escape from the humdrum round. But the cause for which we renew our appeal for support ought not to require so many reminders of its vital importance. After all, $85,000 is but a trifling sum for Victorians to raise, especially in view of the unparalleled volume of money now in circulation hereabouts. And we repeat that the ministrations of the Community Chest and Salvation Army are concerned solely with the unusual case of hardship or misfortune—the case which not even the wisest or most far-seeing government can anticipate with legislative enactment. The joint agency must have the means to alleviate distress immediately the circumstances demand.

They Served Well

FAMILIES IN MANY PARTS OF CANADA are mourning the loss of loved ones who recently met their death by the sinking of H.M.C.S. St. Croix in the Atlantic. This sturdy little vessel, one of the former United States "four stackers" turned over to the Royal Navy in 1940, was playing her part in the protection of a westbound convoy. The circumstances of her end and that of her crew are particularly tragic because more than half of her complement of 147 men had been picked up by the British frigate Ichen which, in turn, met the same fate as the St. Croix—the largest single loss the Royal Canadian Navy has suffered in the conflict to date. It should serve to remind Canadians that the enemy's submarine war has broken out afresh, with new technique, new weapons of destruction, and marked by the unmistakable ferocity of a cornered adversary. It will gain the Fuehrer little in the end; his fate is sealed. Our duty is to see to it that the memory of the gallant men of St. Croix is honored by redoubled energy on the home front.

Rome A Battleground?

NOW THAT THE ONCE PROUD AND picturesque city of Naples is in Allied hands, with evidence of German ruthlessness and brigandage everywhere visible, the prospect that Rome will be defended by the "detaching" Nazis has far-reaching implications. Not that General Eisenhower and his British associates will permit their military strategy to be influenced by considerations only indirectly concerned with the main purpose of the Anglo-American forces. But it will be typical of the German high command, unless otherwise prevented, to convert the Eternal City into a flaming inferno. And under the sheer force of military exigencies the Fuehrer can argue that he had no alternative; the home of the Caesars is in the line of his inexorable retreat. In other words, the Nazi commander-in-chief, to some extent, at any rate, will determine the character of the fighting between captured Naples and the approaches to or in the capital itself.

Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday that General Eisenhower's principal objective is the liberation of Rome and Vatican City. By the contrary token, however, we may take it for granted that Hitler has issued instructions to make this undertaking as difficult and as costly as possible. His paranoiac thought processes unquestionably have visualized a certain reluctance on the part of the Allied generalissimo to fight for the Eternal City with the same energy as his troops employed against Naples. But his intuition will fail him again. Regardless of everything Rome and Vatican City may stand for in the eyes of the world, irrespective of cultural and religious sentiment attaching to their historic monuments, this is modern war. Tens of thousands of human lives are in General Eisenhower's charge. He will be the soldier first and the political sentimentalist last.

Vital To Family Life

COMMUNITIES THROUGHOUT CANADA and the United States will begin tomorrow a period which has been set aside as "Better Parenthood Week." Victoria will participate in these exercises with family services in most of the city churches. During the next seven days educational and other agencies, notably the Parent-Teacher Movement, will direct attention and emphasis to the question of caring for the young people, from infancy to adolescence.

By means of special programs, information dealing with the problems of the young will be disseminated, together with acceptable means of directing their energies and talents along desirable channels. Above all, however, the events of the week will emphasize the need for a closer understanding between the parent and the child, and will seek to instruct fathers and mothers in ways calculated to assist their children. Those who direct these activities will attempt to plant seeds for later flowering among seniors who may have overlooked the necessity of giving their youngsters the attention they need.

"Better Parenthood Week" is not a rapid inoculation which will, in itself, effect a complete solution of parent-child problems. But it is a means of drawing attention to continuous programs, lines of thought, and scientific procedure aimed at improving the welfare of children.

Notes

Military leaders say the Reich is down but far from out. The best way to knock it out is for all of us to go all out for Victory Bonds.

Premier Tojo has warned his Japanese subjects that a "time of emergency" is at hand, in which it would be desirable to have factories and unneeded civilians evacuated from Tokyo, and the air defences of other cities strengthened. There are some things about which the Japanese are backward, but apparently they can read handwriting on the wall.

In spite of a heavy income tax and the purchase tax, voluntary contributions to charity have not grown less in Britain. Before the war they were estimated at between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000 a year. In the financial year 1940-41, contributions to charities were estimated at $104,000,000, including $32,000,000 in free gifts to the Exchequer. In their continued recognition of social and community obligations as well as in how to carry on in other ways during war, the people of Britain set us a high example.

END OF THE ROAD

IN VANCOUVER, where I have been (for my sins) these last few days, I ran across a number of labor union men and found them very disturbed about a development of some importance—the proposal of the Canadian Congress of Labor to affiliate with the C.C.F. This plan, adopted at the recent C.C.L. convention, has caused grave disagreement among union members, and well it may. Canadian labor, if it follows such a line, will find the end of the road in the same place where the unions of Europe found it.

What working men have to understand—and many of them understand it far better than the so-called intelligentsia—is the nature of the society we live in. This is something that most people never stop to consider, taking it all for granted, with its good and its bad.

Our society is a curious thing, well worth examining. It is based finally on one cardinal principle—that no one shall have absolute power, not even the government. No one does have absolute power. The power of the capitalist is constantly challenged by the power of the labor unions and rightly so. The power of the government is challenged by both.

The system is not a single thing, totalitarian thing, but a kind of solar system, of many units revolving around one another and opposing one another but none surrendering to any other.

IT CORRUPTS ABSOLUTELY

THAT IS THE only system in which men can preserve their individual freedom. If complete power goes to anyone, whether it be workers, capitalists or politicians, then the individual has lost his final assurance of freedom. He can then be pushed around. In every state where absolute power has been given to the government, whether of the right or left, individual liberty has not lasted long—even if the government was elected on the specific promise of protecting the individual. "All power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely"—the truest and most important words in all political history. We can't let anyone have such power, even if he is a saint, for he won't remain one.

Thus if the labor unions assist any political party to take absolute control of the state and its entire economy, as the C.C.F. proposes to do, they sign their own death warrant in advance. In such a state, controlled absolutely from the top, there can be no room for labor unions. For labor unions exist solely and entirely to represent the interests of wage earners, to get as much of the nation's total wealth for the wage earners as possible. They do not exist to protect the farmers, for example, but on the contrary, want as low farm prices and food prices as possible. Assuredly they do not exist to protect the capitalists, or the small investor and the person dependent on bond interest.

THEY MUST STRUGGLE

THIS BEING SO, the labor union must continue under a C.C.F. government to struggle for the organized wage earners. Inevitably, in trying to protect the unorganized workers and the rest of the people, the C.C.F. government will have to reject some of the demands of the unions because they will interfere with the great overall plan. They will not agree with the government's distribution of the national income between the various groups.

Then the government must crush the unions to protect its central plan. This has happened in every country where the government has taken control of everything and undertaken to manage the distribution of the national income absolutely. It is no accident. It is inevitable.

That is why British labor, while forming a political party, as never tied the labor unions to it; and why American labor has kept out of politics. These experienced labor men know that while they can wring concessions from a free society they cannot wring them from a government-controlled society. Even if labor forms the government, and attempts to give wage earners nearly all the national income, still it cannot permit local unions to ask for more than the central plan allows; and certainly such a government cannot protect the interests of the farmers or the unorganized people of all sorts. It cannot allow them to organize and struggle for their rights because such struggle inevitably conflicts with the central plan.

In the end, therefore, the overall central plan involves the destruction of all conflicting forces, as it did in Russia, Germany, Italy and other dictatorships. The workers may benefit materially from such a program, as they have done in Russia, but they have lost their chance of individual liberty and they have certainly lost their right to organize and fight for themselves. If Canadian labor reads its labor history it will not hog-tie itself by joining any political party.

Vell, Vot's Der Goot News From Der Front?

A Way to Try Mussolini

There has been a good deal of talk of eventual criminal trials for the international gangsters who plunged the world into blood and tears. But it might be difficult to try Mussolini, for example, however black his soul and red his hands, for rape of a nation, Ethiopia, or for kidnapping a whole people, the Italians.

Now, Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent in Italy in the days when the chesty little ex-dictator was just getting a good hood on Italian throats, comes forward with the suggestion that the fantastic affair of the assassination of the anti-Fascist Giacomo Matteotti in those days, in 1924, may be made the basis of a specific murder trial, with Mussolini backed into the defendant's chair.

With reports of the arrest of Matteotti's killer, St. Louis-born Amerigo Dumini, not for the assassination, but when fleeing to Switzerland from a black-shirt roundup, Kennedy takes occasion to review circumstances of the 1924 political murder, as dirty an affair as the dungeon and alley killings in Russia in the late days of the Czars and of Mad-dog Rasputin.

Gangster Dumini, a boasting cutthroat, was Mussolini's henchman. The leftist Matteotti was Mussolini's chief opponent. Dumini was convicted of the killing but he did not languish long in prison—Benito saw to that. Then thieves felt out: Dumini accused his employer of "ingratitude" and Mussolini clapped him in jail.

When he got out, he took steps to assure his safety. He struggled out of Italy documents purporting to link Mussolini with Matteotti's assassination and put them in the hands of a lawyer in San Antonio, Tex. The lawyer, Martin Arnold, reputable member of the San Antonio bar, has these papers today, but says he will not make them public without an order from Dumini or an accredited agent.

They may yet, as the Associated Press correspondent suggests, be important evidence against Mussolini.

Following as they do upon the difficulties which have been encountered by Canada in securing commissions for her airmen, these latest instances of an unfortunate attitude in London do not make pleasant reading in the Dominion. It would almost seem that the air authorities in Britain do not realize the natural pride and interest which Canada takes in her splendid airmen, to say nothing of the value of specific information about them as an aid to recruiting. Major Power will have general Canadian support in the firm attitude which he has taken.

Major Power recalls that the British air ministry refused identification of airmen in the Mediterranean, an attitude which would have deprived Canadians of news of their airmen's activities there. The Canadian minister instructed Canada's own R.C.A.F. information officers to identify Canadians as such without London's permission. And that was done.

thanks to the COMMUNITY CHEST!

This year the Community Chest is asking for $85,000—and there is a need for every dollar. Many persons may be under the impression that with so much employment at good wages, charity is no longer necessary. But Community Chest money is not used for relief. It is used to counteract juvenile delinquency, look after crippled children and orphans, and take care of families with sickness, death and other domestic troubles.

The population of Victoria has increased very considerably. Many homes lack a husband or father, and the mother is unequal to the task of bringing up the children unaided.

The various branches of the Community Chest do a humanitarian work which has nothing to do with handing out relief... and the problems with which it has to deal are greater than ever.

Many Fine Vegetables At Annual Flower Show

Victory gardeners of Greater Victoria, who have grown some splendid vegetables this summer and have filled their basements with the produce of the soil so they may have their vitamins in dull winter days and free canned goods for men and women in uniform, are displaying their wares at Victoria Horticultural Society's annual early chrysanthemum show in the lower ballroom of Crystal Garden.

The display opened Friday afternoon and will close this evening with an auction of flowers and vegetables.

There are two vegetable displays at the show—one, part of the society's annual fall show, and the other the feature, under auspices of the Victoria Centenary Committee, in celebration of Victoria's 140th birthday. It is honoring those pioneers who first grew vegetables within the walls of old Fort Victoria and on the great farms that stretched across what are now the city's business and residential areas.

The birthday display was arranged in sections, with a special class for the many fine potatoes. In fact, all the vegetables are fine; potatoes are scrubbed and evenly matched, beets are enormous, cabbages are firm and green—there is not a poor specimen in the show.

First for 10 distinct kinds was Geo. Little, 131 Olive, a consistent winner at horticultural shows; in second place was W. G. Burch, Shelbourne, followed by W. C. Cave, 1572 Ryan, and A. and J. Scarborough, whose fine garden was on Mackenzie, near Cook.

A. Tyrrell, 161 Beach, took first prize for eight distinct kinds, followed by A. E. Powell, 235 Maddock, Mrs. Dorothy Hagen and Prof. E. S. Farr, 2771 Burdick, Coleman Collins, Cook and Oliphant, took first place for six kinds of vegetables.

There were 20 entries in the potato section for 15 pounds, any variety. W. G. Burch entered the finest spuds, with A. Simpson in second place, followed by J. C. Fields, 123 Cambridge, Tom Chattell, 132 Ontario, Mrs. Dorothy Hagen, Geo. Little and A. E. Powell.

In the Horticultural Society's regular vegetable and flower section, Mrs. Angus McKay, 24 Olympia, was in first place with 60 points. Second came Tom Chattell, 32 points; Mrs. R. H. Ludbrook, 1617 Earle, 29 points, and W. G. Burch, 24 points.

Geo. Robinson and F. A. Saunders, head gardener at Empress Hotel, judged the flowers, and E. W. White and E. R. Bewell of the Department of Agriculture were judges for the vegetables entered in the centenary show, the special committee looking after this being composed of Alderman D. D. McTavish, chairman, Aldermen W. H. Davies, B. J. Gadsden and F. A. Willis. It was pronounced an outstanding success by all who entered.

The society's 1943 season is hits and all who saw them, now closed. All that remains to be done is to award the Banksian Medal, presented by Royal Horticultural Society to the winner of the largest total value in prizes this season, and the Hon. E. W. Hamber Challenge Trophy to the winner of the highest value of awards at the society's three shows.

The usual meetings of the society will carry on, the first Tuesday evening of each month, at 8, in City Hall.

Hospital Rates In City Boosted

Because of increases in supplies and in wages both local hospitals raised their rates Oct. 1, it was announced by Sister M. Kathleen, Superior, St. Joseph's Hospital, and Dr. T. W. Walker, superintendent, Royal Jubilee Hospital.

It was explained there is no ceiling price on certain hospital supplies, and that wages of hospital employees are not frozen, which means that costs have risen. Costs of materials to keep the hospitals running are up 50 per cent.

The increase over present rates will be as follows: Private wards, $1; semi-private wards, 75c; public wards, 50c, and care of infants, 50c.

Hospital rates do not come under the jurisdiction of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and, consequently, the hospitals do not need to consult the board about changes.

This increase, it was stated, corresponds to that made on the mainland some months ago, and brings Victoria hospital rates in line with those in other parts of the province.

Want Accommodation

During September, 1929 people, 1,018 of them newcomers, applied for accommodation in Victoria. Placements for the month totaled 988 according to figures released by the local office of the National Housing Registry. Both these figures show a decided decrease compared to figures for the summer months.

Applications are still on hand from 818 families, with no accommodation available.

BOOKS

As the Orient Sees Us.

"BETWEEN TEARS AND LAUGHTER," an approach to thinking about today's problems, by Lin Yutang, published by Longmans, Green & Co., Toronto.

LIN YUTANG in his new book gives to the Occidental the first full expression of the Asiatic viewpoint on the state of the world since Singapore fell. As such it is enormously important and should be read by citizens of the western world. What has been written in these pages cannot be ignored.

In the author's own words, "the purpose of this book is to say something that must be said and say it with simplicity. The age calls for simple statements and restatements of simple truths. The prophets of doom are involved, those who would bring light must be clear. Our problem is the problem of moral decay and regeneration. The shadow of another war looms before us. We must think straight and think fast. I am conscious of the hopes and dreams and sweet longings and the impulses for good in any people. That is why I am writing this book."

The author goes on to say that every war is a discovery of the people. Dunkirk is a discovery of the English people; Stalingrad is a discovery of the Russian people; Bataan, a discovery of the American people, and Chungking, a discovery of the Chinese people. Certain truths about the people tend to be continually forgotten and are rediscovered only under the stress of war. The people want peace, a just peace, and good will toward men, Lin Yutang draws on the wisdom of Confucius, Lao-tse, Mencius, the ancient Greeks and Hindus to discuss: "The White Man's Burden," A Philosophy of Peace, American Isolationism, British Imperialism, Nazi Geopolitics, The Future of Asia. He does not offer any "blueprint" for a better world. He writes "that we don't need the Four Freedoms, but only one freedom—Freedom from Humbug."

The author feels that Asiatic thought, matured through 4,000 years of experience, has much to offer to the western world, especially today.

Of the western materialistic approach of the economists to international policy, Lin Yutang says: "Peace is a highly technical matter, like the making of synthetic rubber. It consists of lowering tariff barriers, establishing international air-routes and air-bases, shipping and insurance credits and guarantee of capital investments abroad, easing of population pressures, raising the standard of living. Peace is just distributing ration-coupons to the world. So, if we get together an army of tariff experts, rubber experts, air experts, shipping experts, insurance experts and cactus experts (of which there are 57 varieties) and alfalfa experts (those who specialize in the crinkly alfalfa and the flat-leaved one) and divide all these experts into departments and sections, then we are going to have peace. It is this form of materialism that is driving me mad."

A B.C. Girl Cocktails In War-time Berlin

"FREE TRIP TO BERLIN," by Isabel Russell Guernsey, published by the Macmillan Company of Canada Limited, Toronto.

THIS is a story about people, people the author met and grew to know in Germany. It is about the experiences of a Vancouver woman, Isabel Russell Guernsey, who, en route to Cape Town, was torpedoed on the Zam-zam, April 17, 1941.

The five weeks on a German prison ship were really harrowing. There followed a variety of German jails and the Liebenau Women's Internment Camp, where the author spent three months, with "300 too many other women." Here the excitement of the week was Red Cross Parcel Day—or the arrival of the mail—or a new rumor.

Canadians and South Africans were released after three months because German women are not interned in those countries. The author, along with 13 others, was discharged and sent to Berlin to the care of the American embassy. During the nine months spent there awaiting repatriation, the Canadians met with no unkindness, went to parties and led a gay life. They were technically free after their five months as prisoners of war. They visited P. G. and Mrs. Wodehouse who were staying at the Adlon. At a tea party Mrs. Wodehouse told that her husband was feverishly trying to finish off the last chapter of a book which he hoped to send to America with return diplomats. Harry Flannery, of Columbia broadcasting said that Mr. Wodehouse asked him if his book would sell in the States, and that he replied: "Not if you continue to broadcast over the Nazi radio." Mr. Wodehouse did discontinue this practice for practical or patriotic reason—but he still lived on in luxury at the Adlon.

The women left Berlin on June 13, 1942, via Paris-Bordeaux-Hendaye—to Spain, Portugal and freedom. According to Mrs. Guernsey, life as a prisoner of the Nazis, for a Canadian, was a round of gay social activities during her stay in Berlin.

Key to a Better World Tomorrow

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The aim of the lessons of this last quarter of the year is "to help the student to interpret the Ten Commandments in the light of the teaching of Jesus and to apply them in personal life and in social relationships."

Such interpretation is necessary, for though moral principles and the rules governing good relationships in social life do not change, the conditions and the problems to which they must be applied do change, and the form and manner of their application must be adapted accordingly.

Sabbath observance, for instance, in a great modern city must be different in form, if not in spirit, from Sabbath observance in a small rural community, or in primitive conditions like those in which the Israelites were situated when the Commandments were given.

To attempt to apply the same rule with literal exactness in a modern city would involve great hardship and suffering, and it was just this that the Commandments were designed to prevent.

The whole purpose of the Commandments was humanitarian, and this ought to be the purpose of all laws and moral codes. But laws and rules tend to become crystallized apart from their purpose; outward observance tends to become of more importance than what the law or the rule was designed to prevent or to achieve.

Jesus saw this, and with His accustomed realism He gave the Commandments positive expression. It was not enough to refrain from doing certain things; the Commandments could be fulfilled only in loving one's neighbor as oneself. Thus it was that the young man who had observed all the Commandments from his youth up still lacked one thing. His heart was set on his great possessions, for when the test came he loved them more than he loved God or his fellowmen.

How many of us, even if our possessions are small, would emerge successfully from a test like that? Yet the first and great Commandment is that one should love God with all the heart, mind and strength; and the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

Examine the Commandments of the Mosaic Law in the light of this over-all teaching, and note how essentially they are designed to establish that sort of love in family and social relationships. Could one love his neighbor and seek to steal from him, or do anything mean or spiteful against him?

The principles laid down in the Ten Commandments, as interpreted by Jesus, emphasizing the interpretation of the Jewish law itself—for Jesus did not invent the command to love one's neighbor—are at the very foundation of prosperity, justice and welfare.

We shall never have real peace, or a true democracy, until these principles are recognized and practiced. It is futile to talk of a better tomorrow for the world unless men are going to be better themselves in practicing justice with one another, and in studying ways of mutual helpfulness.

True life, for the individual and for society, is in seeking God's way; and God's way is the way of love to man.

'Victory Hour' at Plaza Sunday

A series of meetings specially planned for servicemen and servicewomen will open Sunday night at the Plaza Theatre at 8. Hymns will be sung, a short address given by a good speaker, good music in which the audience will be asked to join and band and orchestral music will make up a "Victory Hour" of help and cheer which it is hoped will prove attractive to members of all the services.

High ranking officers have signified their approval of this effort, which is being planned and backed by local business men with the co-operation of men and officers from each of the services.

It is hoped that most of the speakers and others participating in the meetings will be servicemen themselves, and it is understood that a C.W.A.C. choir is now practicing for these meetings.

Speaker for the initial meeting will be a business man of Vancouver, Marshall Sheppard, and the soloist will be Miss Dorothy Jealous. The R.C.A.S.C. Band will provide the music, under the leadership of Bandmaster G. E. Bower.

'Victory Hour' at Plaza Sunday

A series of meetings specially planned for servicemen and servicewomen will open Sunday night at the Plaza Theatre at 8. Hymns will be sung, a short address given by a good speaker, good music in which the audience will be asked to join and band and orchestral music will make up a "Victory Hour" of help and cheer which it is hoped will prove attractive to members of all the services.

High ranking officers have signified their approval of this effort, which is being planned and backed by local business men with the co-operation of men and officers from each of the services.

It is hoped that most of the speakers and others participating in the meetings will be servicemen themselves, and it is understood that a C.W.A.C. choir is now practicing for these meetings.

'Nine Till Six' at Little Theatre

"Nine Till Six," Victorias full-length play with an all-woman cast, will be presented again tonight and will be repeated Monday evening, the performances to take place at the Little Theatre, Langham Place, Rockland Avenue.

The Victoria Little Theatre and Dramatic School have been fortunate in obtaining the technical advice and practical help of Victor Mott, well-known fashion designer.

The play, which is the story of the clash and contrast of personalities against the background of a fashionable dressmaking salon, will be performed by a cast of 16, some of whom have many fine roles to their credit, as well as one or two newcomers of decided promise. A particularly smart set has been designed by Stewart Clark.

Tickets may be procured at the Marionette Library or at the door. The public is asked to note particularly that the curtain will rise at 8.15 sharp.

RIO THEATRE

The celebrated Andrews sisters, Maxene, Patty and LaVerne, have headline roles in Universal's tenebrous romantic comedy, "Give Out, Sisters," now at the Rio Theatre.

'Constant Nymph' At Capitol Monday

Two well-known screen villains renounce their his- inspiring ways in "The Constant Nymph," which will open at the Capitol Theatre on Monday and which co-stars Charles Boyer and Joan Fontaine. The pair of ex-bad men are Edward Ginnell and Peter Lorre. Rarely have they been glimpsed hitherto on the screen without guns in their hands and blood in their eyes.

However, in the new Warner Bros. movie, Ginnell plays a kindly servant of the Sanger family, watching solicitously over the children's welfare. The "children" are Joan Fontaine, Brenda Marshall, Joyce Reynolds and Jean Muir. Peter Lorre plays a romantic playboy, who eventually marries Brenda Marshall.

Reunion in France War Show at Atlas

Hailed as one of the most thrilling and powerful war stories yet to come out of Hollywood, M-G-M's new "Reunion in France," starring Joan Crawford with Philip Dorn and John Wayne, opens an engagement Monday at the Atlas Theatre.

The story presents Miss Crawford as a Parisienne of the days immediately following the German occupation of the French capital. Dorn, a young Frenchman, is her sweetheart whom she rejects because of his seeming sympathy for, and collaboration with, France's conquerors. Wayne is a young American member of the R.A.F., an escaped prisoner of war,

Basic English' Heads Lecture List

Seven professors of the University of British Columbia will be brought to Victoria to deliver University Extension lectures here, it was announced today by Kenneth Drury, president of the University Extension Association.

With blackout regulations still in effect, lectures will be held in the Junior High School auditorium instead of in Victoria College.

Because of the interest in Basic English, since Prime Minister Churchill spoke of it at Harvard, Dr. G. G. Sedgwick of the Department of English is preparing a lecture on the subject and it has been arranged that this will open the series. The 1943-44 schedule follows:

Oct. 18—Dr. G. G. Sedgwick: "Basic English."

Nov. 15—Prof. George Drummond: "Social Security Plans."

Dec. 13—Dr. M. Y. Williams: "Some Possibilities of Our Northland."

Jan. 17—Dr. H. V. Warren: "Hydro-Electric Development in British Columbia."

Feb. 21—Miss Dorothy LeFebvre: "Feeding Ourselves in Wartime."

March 20—Prof. Frank Forward: "New Metal Alloys—and Their Treatment."

April 17—Prof. J. A. Irving: "The Future of Democracy (Prospects After the Peace)."

300 Families In Conversion Scheme

Apartment accommodation for over 300 families will be provided in Victoria through the house conversion plan, now in full swing under the National Housing Administration, said William Sutherland, local administrator, today.

Victoria is well ahead of other Canadian cities, said Mr. Sutherland. Work on the conversion of the first two houses will be completed within the month. Eight more houses will be converted immediately—work on three of them is starting today. The 10 buildings now in hand will provide suites for 51 families.

Fifty or 60 houses will eventually be converted into an average of six suites each.

According to Mr. Sutherland, the house conversion plan is much faster and cheaper than any other measure that could be adopted by the government to meet the housing shortage.

Already the administration is swamped with applications for the apartments which will be let at $30 to $45 per month. Preference will be given to essential war workers, and there will be definitely no restriction on children, Mr. Sutherland said.

THE WAR ISN'T WON YET ....

Sure, we're doing well... but it isn't over, and we can't afford to relax our efforts as long as there is a single one of our men within range of enemy fire, nor as long as the enemy has any fighting ability left.

We can hasten victory. We can speed the end of the war. We can get our men back home, victorious and sooner, if we do our part without slackening, without complacency.

And we can quicken the coming of peace and happiness in which our war-time thrift will be rewarded. The Victory Bonds we have bought during the war will be our keys to opportunity, and to the enjoyment of new things when the war is won.

The Fifth Victory Loan will start October 18th. Lend your savings to your country—and plan to lend more out of income.

Every dollar you put into these bonds is still your dollar... earning good interest... growing into a nest-egg that ensures your future.

VISIT to the office this week of Frank Foyston carried us back 18 years to the season when Victoria gained all-time heights in the world of hockey by capturing the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's professional championship. It was a real pleasure to sit back and revive those days with a chap who played a leading role in the march of the Cougars to the championship.

Although we had not seen Foyston for 17 years, it was no stranger who strode into the office. Except for the loss of a few more hairs (he never did have very much) the former star forward has changed little with the passing of so many summers. Never of the robust type Foyston has put on little weight since the days when he was one of the most feared sharpshooters of the ice lanes. In his heyday as a hockey wizard Foyston relied on speed and elusiveness to keep away from the bruising bodychecks of husky defence men.

Foyston has kept a pretty accurate tab on the other members of that championship club. Here's the line-up on the former Cougars: Jack Walker, living in Seattle and employed by Sick's Brewery; Clem Loughlin still operating his hotel at Viking, Alberta, and also his big farm; Ft. Lt. Frank Fredrickson with the R.C.A.F. at Calgary; Gizzy Hart, at last reports a resident of Weyburn, Sask., where he coached several hockey teams; Slim Halderson, living in Winnipeg; Gordie Fraser, located somewhere in Ontario; Harry Meekling, employed in Toronto; Happy Holmes, goalie of the club, has

Serious Local Cage Loss

Flyers to Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Persistent rumors that R.C.A.F. would enter a contending club in the V. and D. Basketball League as assumed a definite form when it was revealed Friday that a meeting has already been held with a view to transferring the nucleus of the Canadian championship Pat Bay squad to Vancouver areas for further training.

Bob Phelan, Irwin Stout, "Pop" Pay and Jack Edmondson, all mainland boys, are stationed on the island, and they naturally welcome the opportunity to join Vancouver stations. But throwing their lot in with the club is Norm Baker and Ian McKeachie, dynamic high scorers of the aggregation.

Ollie Goldsmith, the lad responsible for a good part of their success last season, is a Y.M.C.A. war services worker and is a doubtful transferee.

LACK OF COMPETITION

Competition on the island last season came from only one source—the army—and in the playoffs the Flyers found themselves involved in countless disputes that necessitated the B.C.A.B.A. ordering a sudden-death game played in Vancouver as the only means of settling the differences. Vancouver has always had at least a four-club senior loop, playing in suitable gymnasiums and the air force plans have taken that into consideration.

Rounding out the above starry group will be hoop stars already in the area. In themselves they lack the strength to warrant a franchise in the league. Should the plans be carried to completion, the boys in blue will have a top club to back. Also it will relegate Varsity from an odds-on favorite to no better than even money for the ultimate championship.

Shores will again build their five around George McConnell, Kenny Lawn and Earl McDonagh. Stacks have Bill Anderson and Don Freeman. Rann Mathison is a doubtful starter. Lauries, with the exception of Arnie Burnstead, will have practically the same club as last season. Varsity have lost only Art Barton and Paddy Wescott. All four outfits start practices next week in preparation for the Oct. 30 opening.

Vancouver Firm Gets James Bay Contract

Contract for the construction of 50 Wartime Housing dwellings in James Bay, at a cost of $160,000, was reported today to have been awarded to Bennett & White Construction Company Ltd., Vancouver.

The firm is said to have an option to build an additional 50 dwellings in the same area.

The use of high-frequency electric waves to produce heat in metal objects is not new, but by a new method they are now used in heating thermosetting plastics evenly throughout the object.

Musial Injures Leg, But Available For World Series

For a few minutes Friday Billy Southworth's heart must have skipped a few beats.

The skipper of the champion St. Louis Cardinals was seated in the dugout at St. Louis calmly watching his Redbirds play the last-place New York Giants. In the fourth inning outfielder Stan Musial pulled up lame while running out a grounder.

Musial, leading hitter in the major leagues, the man expected to spark the Cardinals' attack against the New York Yankees in next week's world series, had strained his right ankle. A quick examination disclosed, Southworth said, that the injury was not serious.

Southworth took no chances and pulled Musial out of the lineup "for a rest." The loss of the hard-hitting outfielder from Donora, Pa., would be a terrific blow to the Cardinals.

The Redbirds went on to walloping the Giants 7 to 1 behind the six-hit pitching of Harry Gumbert. The performance of Gumbert indicated that his sore-arm troubles are over and that he is ready for duty in the fall classic.

DODGERS WIN

Brooklyn Dodgers drew within one game of clinching third place in the National League by making it two in a row over Cincinnati Reds 2 to 1 in 11 innings.

Ed. Head and Bucky Walters battled on even terms until the 11th, when Dixie Walker singled and romped home on Billy Herman's triple, the second straight game Herman has won for the Dodgers with a lusty three-bagger.

In the only other big league game Friday Chicago Cubs chalked up their sixth straight by beating Boston Braves 3 to 1 behind the effective pitching of rookie Walter Signer.

The St. Louis Browns-Yankees and Cleveland-Philadelphia games in the American League were postponed because of the weather. The other clubs had an open date.

Sheley Plays Single Grid Game For Regina

REGINA (CP)—Wayne Sheley, whose forward passing finesse brought Winnipeg Blue Bombers many a victory on prairie grid-irons, has promised to play what may be his last Canadian football game in a Regina All-Services Roughriders jersey.

Sheley, now on a prairie business trip before enlisting in the navy, announced here he would join the Regina club for its western interprovincial rugby football league encounter against Winnipeg United Services here Oct. 16.

Lansdowne Cup Play At Uplands Links

Women members of the Uplands Golf Club will start play next week in the annual Lansdowne Cup competition. The event will be match play with three-quarters of the difference in handicap allowed. One match will be played each week until the final.

In the annual winter cup competition Mrs. E. Jackson was the winner with a score of 84-85-79-248. Mrs. Ken Lawson was runner-up.

Draw for the Lansdowne Cup tournament follows:

First Round: Mrs. A. C. Coll vs. Mrs. A. F. McMillan; Mrs. A. E. Colbourne vs. Mrs. R. T. Webb; Mrs. A. M. Jones vs. Mrs. D. Fletcher; Mrs. G. Lindsay vs. Mrs. J. R. Hibbert; Mrs. W. ## N.H.L. Publicity Blare

Feature Youth, Speed

By CHARLIE EDWARDS
TORONTO (CP)—The accent will be on youth and speed in the National Hockey League's publicity blare this fall. The N.H.L. must peddle its wares in Montreal and Toronto in competition with service teams led with the class and experience that formerly typified N.H.L. play.

Youth won't be hard to sell in Toronto where a record series attendance of 73,870 went completely wild over the Winnipeg-Oshawa junior final last spring. Hockey men in Canada are worried by the professional call for players of juvenile age and now they have new cause for anxiety. Amateur teams in United States are trying to obtain players of juvenile age from Canada because of difficulty in getting older players across the border. The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is conducting a poll of its provincial branches to determine whether a movement of juveniles to the states will be permitted.

When Russo is right he is tough to beat in any kind of competition. In both 1940 and 1941 he won 14 games for the Yankees and in the latter year he pitched a four-hit 2 to 1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the world series.

ARM WENT LAME

Last Year Russo's arm became strangely lame—most of the time he couldn't throw hard enough to play bean bag, but a few times the soreness let up and he appeared in nine games, winning four and losing one.

This year the Yankees hired a new trainer, Eddie Froelich, who had been a kid in the Chicago clubhouse when Joe McCarthy managed the Cubs and who later became the trainer of the Chicago Black Hawks hockey team. Froelich made Russo his special ward and today pronounced him A1 for the series if Joe McCarthy wants him.

"Russo's trouble," he explained, "we found out was caused by sinus. When he cleared that up the toxic condition which had settled in his pitching arm disappeared."

guard but Adams says Carl has little chance of acceptance because of asthma and hay fever. Hank Damore, who played industrial hockey at Windsor last winter, is booked for a trial with Hershey Bears in the American League.

Carl Liscombe of the Wings reported for medical examination with the U.S. coast-

Trio of Handicap Stars Get Invite To Pimlico Special

BALTIMORE (AP)—In an apparent effort to make this year's renewal of the Pimlico Special a true test of the best handicap horses in training, the Maryland Jockey Club announced Friday that Mar-Kell, Prince Quillo and Shut Out would be invited to compete.

The $25,000 winner-take-all race will be staged at Pimlico Oct. 30 during the four Maryland tracks' consolidated meeting.

Thirteen winners of the year's top races are already eligible for the special, a race which Lieut. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt devised when president of Pimlico, but only six of the 13 are now in training.

President Henry A. Parr of Pimlico said that invitations would be issued, on the strength of their performances this season, to the three handicap stars. None of the trio has won one of the 24 races which make a thoroughbred eligible for the special, but Prince Quillo and Mar-Kell at least have been consistent performers. Shut Out was the three-year-old champion last year.

Should one of the three start, it would be the first time in the three-year history of the special under its present conditions that a horse which did not win one of the qualifying races faced the barrier.

In addition to the three to which special invitations will be issued, eligibles now in training include Thumbs Up, Slide Rule, Royal Nap, Eurasian, Bolling-broke and Fairy Manhurst.

Cyperac Captures Coronation Stakes

TORONTO (CP)—The Parkwood Stable, owned by Col. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont., dominated the 38th running of the $5,000-added Coronation Stakes at Woodbine Park Friday as its double-barreled entry finished heads apart in the second of the autumn classics for Canadian-bred juveniles.

Cyperac led Heulwen to the wire with Riverdale Stable's Nimblefoot coming from last place to finish third, three lengths back and on the outside. Cyperac was ridden by Denny Birley who came back in the sixth race to win the secondary feature, the $1,000 Zetland Plate, with Cosgrave Stable's Appas Tappas.

Two western Canada invaders won at good odds. F. Kilroy's Top Boots placed first in the second event at $15.75, edging Sweep Lad and Arcadella, which recently was claimed from its western owner by the Fairview Stable of Toronto. Top Boots completed a daily double worth $51.75 with Storm Orphan, winner of the first at $8.45.

L. Gow's four-year-old maiden Blue Countess finally graduated in the nightcap, defeating Mono Miller and Park King over a mile and a sixteenth. Blue Countess paid $12.55, $5.85 and $3.50.

Flyers-Salmonbellies Open Lacrosse Finals

Pat Bay Boys Enter Series As Underdogs

NEW WESTMINSTER — R.C.A.F. Flyers from Pat Bay and those rugged veterans from the banks of Fraser, Salmonbellies, opened their best-of-three playoff series here tonight for the British Columbia box lacrosse championship.

To the winner will go the right to battle the eastern titholders for the Mann Cup, emblematic of the Canadian championship. The eastern champions will come to the Pacific coast for the playoff. Salmonbellies enter the series as favorites mainly because the mainland observers figure the lack of stiff competition will result in the Victoria champions not being so sharp as the Fishermen.

On paper the Pat Bay outfit looks outstanding but it takes a lot of hard games to bring any team into its best form and the airmen's weak opposition at Victoria may have failed to bring Pat Bay into its best form.

On the other hand, Salmonbellies, made up mostly of veterans who have come out of retirement, are in high gear after a tough regular schedule and playoffs.

One of the biggest crowds in years is expected to pack Queen's Park arena to see the mainland champions go into action against Flyers.

All games of the two-of-three series will be played at New Westminster with the second Monday and the third, if necessary, Wednesday.

EASTERN FINALS

TORONTO (CP)—A Quebec team has yet to represent eastern Canada in the Mann Cup lacrosse finals but Lachine R.C.A.F. hopes to make the grade this year.

The Quebec Lacrosse Association senior champions tonight meet Mimico-Brampton Combines, Ontario Lacrosse Association senior titleholders and last year's Dominion champions, in the first of a two-game, total-point series to decide the eastern Canada finalist. The second game is slated for Monday night here.

First service team to win a Quebec senior lacrosse title, the airmen have a strong cast to battle for the right to travel west.

With several former Ontario lacrosse stars in their ranks the Flyers picked up additional defensive strength from Valleyfield Army of the Quebec loop by acquisition of Pat Egan and Charlie Phillips. Both Egan and Phillips are well-known professional hockey and lacrosse players and both had good seasons this year.

The airmen also have Mervin MacKenzie, former Orillia and Mimico, Ont., star, Ross Wheaton and Frank Eddolls, who recently took over coaching chores from Don Penniston.

Combines won the right to meet Lachine when they edged Toronto Lakeshore 4 to 2 in the best-of-seven O.L.A. finals. They retain much of the strength that enabled them to turn back Salmonbellies in the Dominion finals last year with Garney Large, J. Mullis, Whipper, Arthur, Ross Gimblett, Bill Isaacs and George Masters still in uniform.

Pte. Ken Dixon and Pte. Wendy McMahon, main scoring threats of Brampton Army Bullets in the O.L.A. this year, will be out for combines if permission is given by military authorities.

Outstanding Feats Marked Coast Loop Baseball Schedule

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Honorable mention: Before putting the 1943 Coast League baseball season into cold storage, we'll lead the cheering section for a few exploits that bear retelling.

Bill Skiff's feat of piloting the Seattle Rainiers into a third-place finish and the finals of the president's cup post season playoff was a corking job and the little "Baldy" rates a big bouquet. The club was in last place some time during the schedule and Skiff's task seems as hopeless as dipping water with a sieve. He shuffled the material on hand, plus some acquired late, into a hustling team. It still puzzles us how Skiff was able to stand up under the grind as a catcher for so many years (remember him with Los Angeles in 1939?). The man must weigh all of 140 pounds wringing wet.

On the pitching side, Jodie Phipps of Los Angeles ended up with the best record of wins and losses, 17 and 5, but the fellow who did the best pitching job, week in and week out, in our book was bespectacled, lanky, Charley Schanz of the San Diego Padres. This big workhorse won 17 and lost 15 games for a seventh place team; played first base the last two days and probably would have won 30 games if twirling for Los Angeles. He is going to the majors and incidentally is a San Francisco Seals castoff, so who missed the boat here?

CARNETT MOST VALUABLE

Put down the name of Ed Carnett, the Seattle lefty who won four and lost four on the mound and finished up chasing flies as the swiftest fielding left fielder, plus a 300 batting average in 121 games. He is our nominee for the most valuable player of the circuit.

The best player deal of the season was put over by the Seals, who traded Brooks Holder, outfielder, to Hollywood and got in return outfielders Bernie Uhalt and Harry Rosenberg and infielder Del Young. Uhalt, who hit .313, more than made up for the swap. Holder batted .271 for the Stars.

Entry Forms Ready For Big Dog Show

Entry blanks for the annual fall championship show of the Victoria City Kennel Club at the Crystal Garden, Oct. 6, are now available at the Owl Drug Store, the Pet Shop or from the secretary at telephone E2536.

The show will be held under Canadian Kennel Club rules. Due to the limited space for benching, the entries will be limited accordingly.

The secretary reports that to date the entries exceed all expectations, and by the time the catalogue goes to press all available space will be occupied.

Many handsome trophies, as well as cash prizes will be awarded. Canadian-bred dogs and puppies will be well provided for. The show will be held under the auspices of the Victorian Order of Nurses and will be judged by H. H. Allen of Winnipeg.

Willie Grant, Former Hockey Star, Missing

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—Ft. Sgt. W. A. (Willie) Grant, 24, who played in professional ranks with Tulsa Oilers and the Omaha Knights, has been reported missing after air operations overseas with the R.C.A.F. It was learned here today. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Grant, were advised he was missing after a flight Sept. 28.

Grant was with the North Bay Trappers in 1937-38 when the junior hockey team contested the Memorial Cup. He turned professional the following season.

He had made more than 34 flights over Germany and German-occupied territory and was said to be one of the outstanding bomb-almers in the R.C.A.F.

CHICAGO (AP)—Belief that government efforts to get corn off farms may result in an improved feed grain situation brought selling into all grains today, oats meeting the most pressure. Oats were off a cent at times, while wheat and rye were down fractionally.

Purchases of corn on a to arrive basis have been fairly large during recent sessions and a private estimate of improvement in crop prospects during September, with production forecast as close to 3,000,000,000 bushels, was a further restraint on buying.

At the close, wheat was down 1/2 to 3/4, December $1.50 to $1.50 1/2, May $1.51 to $1.51 1/2. Oats were off 1/4 to 1 cent, December 76 to 76 1/2, and rye was 1/4 to 1 cent lower, December $1.08 1/2.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—It was another of those selective markets today, so far as stock buyers were concerned, and leaders generally shifted over a slightly uneven terrain. Transfers of around 250,000 shares were among the smallest for the year to date.

Wall Street was cheered by the oversubscription of the third United States war loan. The question of taxes still was a restraint for bullish contingents. News from world battle fronts continued as a prop for sentiment, but again failed to have much effect on speculative or investment operations.

Canadian issues tended fractionally lower, Dome McIntyre C.P.R. all easing half a point or less. Lake Shore was an exception, up 1/4.

Basketball Time Again

Audrey Whitaker, 476 Gorge Road, holds the basketball, while Joan Hume, 426 Montreal Street, left, and Phyllis Clegg, 803 Hillside Avenue, stand ready to start running the moment Audrey throws the ball. They all attend Quadra Street School and, with other girls, have had plenty of basketball during the lovely warm afternoons of the past few weeks.

Willie Winkle

A valuable lesson is taught by two "admirals" we met on the waterfront.

THE DALLAS road waterfront has been so lovely this week that we've made several visits there. You'll remember last Saturday that I told you about our good fortune in meeting a king-fisher and an old gentleman in tweeds on the waterfront. They both proved such good company that we thought we might find some more like them.

It's a most interesting place. The number of older people who walk along the cliffs and sit on the benches there was quite a revelation to us. They seem to enjoy it there, the bright, warm sun, the beautiful blue waters, the haze that builds up the mirages, the sombre Olympic Mountains, which have lost most of their snow, and the broken skyline of our Sooke Hills.

"After walking about here for a week now I sure hope when I get old I'll live here," said Skinny.

"Them's strange sentiments for you, my boy," said Pinto.

"Maybe they are, but look at those old fellows over there, smoking their pipes, waving their canes and laughing," replied Skinny. "They ain't got a care in the world. Where else could you sit out in the sunshine and enjoy yourself like this. Down in Toronto it's been freezing and up in Edmonton they've had snow."

"What about California or Florida?" asked Jack.

"Phooey," answered Skinny. "Old people couldn't stand the heat. Everything's dried up like a desert; you don't get green things like we've got. They've got snakes and alligators and bugs and mosquitoes that look like dive-bombers. No, sir, this place for me when I get old."

JUST THEN WE passed the bench with the two old chaps on it.

"Must be a couple of admirals," suggested Pinto.

"Sure look it; they've got the right hats," I replied. "Or maybe they're just a couple of old summer taxi-drivers. They wear them kind of hats sometimes."

"Let's listen in on them," said Skinny.

"Naw, they may be telling stories we shouldn't listen to; you know what some of these old men are," advised Pinto.

AFTER A BIG laugh, one of the "admirals" pointed his cane out to sea and said: "Say, George, what do you make out of that break on the horizon? Forgot, you're too old to see that far."

"Belay that stuff," replied George. "Why, hang it all, I can see beyond the horizon. Can you see that tree on the ridge, yonder, Ernie?"

"George, you're sure slipping; why I can not only see the tree but I can see a squirrel on the top limb," replied Ernie.

"You can only see the squirrel?" inquired George. "Why, I can see a nut in his paws, can you?"

"Sure, but I've been trying to figure out what kind of a nut it was, oak, chestnut or peanut," said Ernie.

There was another outburst of laughter from the two "admirals," and I don't wonder. There was Skinny, Jack, Pinto and I straining our eyes trying to look all the way across the straits. We couldn't even see the shoreline, but these old boys were talking about a nut in the paws of a squirrel on the top of a limb of a tree, 20 miles away.

"Perhaps these boys can settle our argument," said Admiral George. "Smart generation, this." George dug Ernie in the ribs and winked at him.

"Oh, sure," replied Ernie. "My grandson's always showing off how smart he is, but I notice he comes around at times to ask for information when's he got to write a composition. Wants me to tell him a sea story. By George, his teacher must get a great laugh out of him if he writes some of the yarns I tell him."

TELL YOU what we want to know, boys," said George. "See yonder ship, she's showing up a bit better on the horizon now. What be she?"

"Maybe a whaler coming back from the Queen Charlottes," I said. "About time they were coming home."

"You'd never see a whaler at that distance, my lad," said Admiral George.

"I'll guess it's a minesweeper; I got a cousin on one," said Pinto. "It's either that or a corvette."

"The boy's got something there," replied Admiral George. "She's a sweeper, don't you think, Ernie? Cut away aft too much for a corvette."

"Pardon me," I interrupted.

Flowers for Teacher

Elinor Graham, age 7, of 3105 Yew Street, photographed by the Times cameraman as she was on her way to school with a lovely bouquet of flowers for her teacher.

"How do you gentlemen know so much about ships?"

"He calls us gentlemen," said Admiral Ernie to Admiral George. "Long time since I've been addressed such. Usually it's 'who's the old guy?'"

TURNING to me Admiral Ernie said: "Thanking you for the compliment, young man; we're a couple of old pumpkins that formerly sailed the Seven Seas. Ernie here was an old windjammer man, that is, he was master of square rigged ships, before the days of steam and diesel oil. And a real good skipper he was, if I do say it myself. As for me, I was a navy man; not much of a one, but did the best I could."

"Now, George, don't be so modest," Admiral Ernie said. "Let these young 'uns know all the heroes weren't made in this war. Let me tell you boys, you're looking at one of the great heroes of all time. Some day I'm going to get him in the Veterans' parade and he'll knock all your eyes out with the string of medals he's got. Why, he tore men to pieces with his bare hands!"

"Easy on your chatter," George said, as he bent his head and made scratches in the grass with his cane. "Those days are so far away they seem like a dream. We had our days and we had our glory. Let the boys who are doing the big job today have theirs. I've got a grandson, flying a Lancaster bomber, who did more destruction on one raid over Berlin than I did in a lifetime of service. And Ernie, he's faced more danger than I did. No, Ernie, these youngsters deserve all the glory. We kept the old flag flying in our day and these boys are doing it now, and how they're doing it! My old heart beats faster every time I get a letter from that flying grandson of ours. Wouldn't I like to be 50 years younger and be in there with the boys!"

"Yes, and what a flier you'd have been," said Ernie as he looked at George with pride. "I can just imagine you going right in and laying a blockbuster in old Hitler's lap."

GEORGE looked up at us. "You're nice-looking boys," he said. "Good Canadian stuff. God forbid you'll be needed in this war, but if you are, I know you'll be heroes, you just can't help it. But remember, learn all you can now, then you'll make better sailors or soldiers or airmen. In my day it was mostly man against man, but today it's a scientific war. Men have got to have keen, well-schooled and well-disciplined brains. And if the war's over before you're needed, remember it's going to be a scientific world then; you'll need education more than ever before. So, if you only remember one thing from your chance meeting with us old fogies today it's this: Learn all you can at school and when you quit school keep on learning."

"Thank you, sir," Skinny said. "I'm the guy in this crowd that's always wanting to quit school. I'll remember what you said, sir, thanks."

New Caledonia Was Discovered By Captain Cook

CAPTAIN JAMES COOK gave seeds and poultry to natives of the South Pacific islands, and he also gave them livestock. Many of these dark-skinned people saw goats and sheep for the first time in their lives after the arrival of Cook and his party 170 years ago.

A visit was made to Easter Island, west of Australia, which has an area of 47 square miles.

Cook estimated that there were about 600 people on Easter Island, but the important thing was not the people but the statues. Dozens of statues were seen standing about or lying on the ground.

Some of the statues were from 15 to 27 feet high. Each one had the head of a man at the top. In many cases a large red stone rested on the statue's head.

THE FACES on the statue were very much alike, and probably all of them had been made in the image of a king who had ruled this island long before. The natives showed no mark of honor to the statues while Cook was watching them.

On a June day in 1774 Captain Cook's vessel cast anchor off another island. As he came toward shore in a rowboat, he was greeted by a swarm of savage warriors. Cook made signs of friendship, but the warriors replied by raising their spears and other weapons.

There was a great deal of kindness in the captain's heart. He might have ordered his men to fire their muskets at the warriors, and in that way could have overcome them with little trouble. Instead of doing that, he left the unfriendly shore. No such island had been found marked on the ocean charts of that time, so Cook supplied a name, calling it "Savage Island."

HEADING TOWARD New Zealand, Cook reached an island of large size. This was to be known as "New Caledonia." It is in the South Pacific, well to the east of Australia, and has an area of more than 6,000 square miles.

So far as is known, Cook and his men were the first whites to reach New Caledonia.

Small rudely built boats came alongside the "Resolution." They were paddled by dark-skinned natives who wore very little clothing.

In this case the natives were friendly. They were allowed to come aboard the "Resolution," and Captain Cook took livestock to several islands of the South Pacific.

Natives of Savage Island raised their weapons as Cook came near.

while there they looked with interest at the swine, goats, poultry and other animals.

The white men soon entered rowboats and went ashore. There they saw that the natives lived in round huts with thatched roofs.

WOOD, food and water were obtained from the New Caledonia natives. Then the Resolution sailed away and reached one of the New Zealand islands.

In later months of the voyage Cook sailed to Cape Horn, at the southern end of South America. Then he made the great water journey from that cape to the southern end of Africa. He reached England on July 30, 1775, after having been away three years and 18 days.

Captain Cook was honored for his work, and if he had stayed in England, he probably would have lived to a ripe old age. As it was he took another commission to go exploring in the Pacific, and on this journey he met a violent death.

The purpose of the new voyage was to find a water passage around the northern end of North America. Not a great deal was known at that time about the geography of Alaska and northern Canada.

WITH TWO VESSELS under his command, the great captain rounded the Cape of Good Hope and sailed across the Indian and Pacific Oceans to New Zealand.

The people of Hawaii treated the strangers well. Some of them seemed to think that he was a long-lost god who had been among them in times past.

It is not certain that Cook was the first white sea captain to reach Hawaii and the nearby islands, but he gave them the name of "Sandwich Islands" which they kept for a long time.

Sad to say, a quarrel arose with the natives over a boat which certain of them had stolen. Without orders from the captain, several sailors fired bullets at the natives. Later a group of natives attacked Cook when he came ashore to claim the boat. He died from the knife wounds which he suffered. At the time of his death he was 50 years old.

Elephants

A POSTAL CARD signed by Mr. Frank Smith has come to my desk, and on it I find these words:

"A while ago you told us something about elephants. Some big game hunters have stated that elephants know when the end of life is near, at which time they wander off by themselves to a swamp or quicksand pit, where their bodies are entirely submerged. When you have space, will you please comment on this?"

"Also how can many animals detect the scent of humans a long way off when a human body is without odor to us? Do people have an odor which they do not smell?"

As to the questions about odor, the answer is that people do have an odor which is possible to smell.

AMONG PERSONS of the same race, a true body odor is not noticed. Certain odors spoken of in soap advertisements may exist at times, but they are not the kind we are speaking about.

A good proof of the natural body odor is found in reports of people smelling other persons of a different race. Members of brown, yellow and white races have spoken many times of odors they have found in other races, but not their own.

That kind of body odor can be smelled by wild animals. As I have said, elephants smell it at a great distance if the wind is right. Bloodhounds can follow the scent of a human being who is running away.

As to "elephant cemeteries," they really exist in a certain sense. A number of them have been found in Africa.

Old elephants find, at last, that they cannot keep up with the stronger members of the herd. They grow tired of climbing hills and stumbling through forests. They no longer care to swim across rivers, as the herd moves from place to place.

SO IT COMES about that the old elephants wander away from the herd. They find a place where there is water to drink, and at least a certain amount of plant life which they can eat. There they stay as the days and weeks go by.

Swamps are favored by the old elephants, partly because of the water supply. Sooner or later one of the aged beasts is almost sure to get stuck in the mud, perhaps while he is drinking. By his struggles, he may get free, but the time will come when he is too weak to struggle. Then death will overtake him as he sinks into mud, quicksand or water.

Dam Buster a Scout

A distinguished visitor at the recent national Scout conference in Ottawa was Wing Commander Guy P. Gibson, V.C., D.F.C. and bar, D.F.M. and bar, the R.A.F. pilot who led the raid on the German dams. Gibson is the sixth British Scout to be awarded the Victoria Cross in the present war. He is a Rover Scout in Totter, Kent. He visited Victoria two weeks ago.

fore she could get it. I started as fast as I could for the street and ran up the road after the dogs, for they were following the wagon all the time they were fighting.

The dogs saw me coming. The men saw me, too. I heard one of them say, "Gee, look at the cat!" I knew that was because I was running so fast. It seemed as though I hardly touched the ground, but just bounded along like a rubber ball.

That big yellow dog knew I would jump on his back and scratch as hard as I could, and he knew my sharp claws wouldn't feel a bit good on his back. He gave me one look out of the corner of his eye, then let go his hold of Snyder, and started along after his wagon, and Snyder and I trotted back home. I haven't seen that big dog since then and Snyder hasn't had any more fights,

Beetles, Gleaming Gems 'Needles'

By GLADYS JORDAN

LIKE glittering, gleaming gems of amethyst, emerald, jade, ruby and countless other jewels the tiny beetles move over the dark earth, or flash through the sunlight. Their glittering, iridescent shells reflect prismatic rays as the summer sun glints over them.

Beetles vary in size—from the tiny tortoise beetle to the big and savage Tiger beetle, but they are all beautiful and interesting to watch. The Tiger beetle is seldom seen on a dark day. Perhaps he is aware of the truly marvelous effect the sun has on the gold and blue emerald of his body. He seems studded with precious gems as he flashes through the sun light. Like the Searcher beetle, he is swift and merciless when attacking his prey. These beetles eat grubs, worms and many of the deadly canker worms, as well as countless caterpillars.

The Carib beetle feeds mostly upon caterpillars, though it will not pass by other insects if it is really hungry. Its name means "cannibal," or at least it is a corruption of that word. The Carib has an enormous appetite and seems never satisfied. It moves swiftly, as you will find if you try to catch one, and it flies with ease. The Carib's body is a lovely metallic green, the wings are edged with purple and gold and the head is golden.

THE SEXTON beetles go about burying dead creatures that they find in their path—hence their name. They work in pairs and do an excellent job as well as a most surprising one, considering their size. They are strong and tireless at their work.

In the olden days, and perhaps even now, the Indians made necklaces and other ornaments from the brilliant shells of the beetles. They dried the shells and polished them until they rivaled any precious stone in their beauty. And in South American countries they are often seen in jewelers' windows.

There are 150,000 species. They have two pairs of wings, though the hind ones are seldom used in flight. The beetles are of great value to mankind because of their war on worms, grubs and food-destroying insects. And they are living, glowing beauty wherever found—on the land, among stones, crawling over leaves or emerging from the dark earth into the bright rays of the sun.

ODDITIES

No word in the Chinese language has more than one syllable. Afghanistan, a nation of 10,000,000 people, has no railroads.

The average Canadian chews 130 sticks of gum a year.

MY NAME is "Needles." I am greyish-silver in color. I don't know why folks call me "Needles" unless it was because my hair is so long and fine and steely-grey like fine needles. At any rate, that is the name they gave me.

I have two beautiful kittens, "Trinket" and "Bijou." A nice black dog, "Snyder," lives with us. We all like him and play with him. He is not a very large dog.

One day, Snyder was lying out in front of the house, when up the street came a big farm wagon, drawn by a pair of horses. Two men were on the wagon and a big yellow dog that Snyder knows and does not like, was following the wagon.

Snyder is a good dog and almost never fights, but he just can't bear that big yellow dog, so he started for him, and right away the fight began. The men on the wagon didn't do a thing to stop the fight. They knew their big dog could take care of himself, so they didn't care; but I couldn't bear the thought of our nice Snyder getting hurt. I think he ought not to have started the fight. However it was started and he was getting the worst of it, so I just had to do what I could to stop it.

The ladies from the house called and called Snyder. He paid no attention to them. One of them ran to get some water to throw in the dogs' faces, but be-
